

Newspapermen grab a vacation when and if they can. I'm taking out for a while after today's column — shuffling road maps instead of newspaper pages.

My thanks to all the subscribers and advertisers who have made this a good year for The Star.

And thanks also for something else. Not so long ago your correspondent and some fellow citizens took a flier in the radio business. I know that the home folks are never slow about handing a crying-towel to any of the boys who venture out in something new. And indeed it was exciting for a while — but KKR has been in the black for more than a year.

That's something nice to say for the boys who actually run the station, but it's also something nice to say for the town.

I thought you'd like to know it. And my thanks to The Star's veteran staff, partly through their own vacations, for being able to get away now. Nor should I forget Cecil Johnson of Nevada News, Prescott, who fortifies us in the mechanical department in vacation-time.

I'll be seeing you.

As a parting shot here's a story relayed by Claude Nunn:

A New Orleans attorney, negotiating an R. F. C. loan for a client, was asked for a clear title on the property. He mailed a painstaking and accurate abstract of title. Came a pleasant letter from R. F. C. complimenting him on his able presentation, but noting a regrettable error — that he'd failed to chain the title prior to 1803. This he would have to do, the letter said, before the loan could be granted.

The attorney wrote this answer: I was unaware that any educated man in the world did not know that Louisiana was purchased from France in 1803 by the U. S. The title to that land was acquired by France by treaty from Spain. The land came into the possession of Spain by right of discovery made in 1492 by a Spanish-Portuguese sailor named Christopher Columbus, who had been granted the privilege of seeking a new route to India by the reigning monarch, Queen Isabella.

The good queen, being a pious woman and almost as careful about titles as the R. F. C., took the precaution of securing the blessings of the Pope of Rome upon the voyage before she sold her jewels to help Columbus.

Now the Pope, as you know, is the emissary of Jesus Christ, who is the Son of God, and God, it is commonly accepted, made the world. Therefore, I believe it is safe to assume that he also made that part of the U. S. called Louisiana — and I hope to h— you're satisfied.

Conference of Teachers Set for Sept. 6

County School Supervisor E. R. Brown, announces a workshop conference for all Hempstead County teachers and administrators for September 6, 1950, at the Hope High School.

This program will begin at 8:30 with a talk by Dr. Morgan Owens, Director of the Division of Instruction, State Department of Education, and immediately after this general session teachers and administrators will be divided into different sessions for three periods during the day with the following subject areas under discussion:

Reading, art, music, health, and physical education, social studies evaluation and testing, vocational agriculture and veterans instruction, arithmetic, science, home economics, lunchroom, library science and audio-visual aids.

These subject areas will be respectively led by the following consultants in these fields: Mrs. Fieta Russell from Henderson State Teachers College, Miss Marie Sesze, art instructor for Pulaski County music by a representative from Henderson State Teachers College.

Jim Watson, State Department of Education, John Trice, State Department of Education.

Myron Cunningham, State Department of Education, O. J. Seymour, regional supervisor of vocational agriculture, N. M. Hamilton County School Supervisor of Pulaski County, Dean White, side from the State Department of Education, Miss Ruth Powell from the State Department of Education, Miss Irene Mason from Arkansas Library Commission and Garland Beavers from State Department of Education.

The afternoon session will end at 3:00 o'clock after which time the consultant chairman and recorder of each and every session will make a summary of accomplishments during the day to be given in the evening evaluation session from 7:30 to 8:30.

A watermelon feast will be provided from 8:30 to 7:30 under the leadership of a committee composed of Crit Stuart Jr., chairman, W. H. Allison Jr., J. Brown and

The largest catch of the American fishing industry in menhaden — a fish seldom used for human food, but of great industrial value.

Army Wounded Enroute to Spa Hospital

Mobile, Ala., Aug. 22 (AP)—Forty-one Korean war wounded paused briefly at Mobile today on the last lap of a long flight home from Japan.

Most of the wounded are being taken to the Army-Navy General hospital at Hot Springs, Ark. They were the largest of four groups to pass through Brookley air force base.

Truman Calls for Settlement of Rail Strike

Washington, Aug. 22 (AP)—President Truman today called for renewed efforts to settle a nationwide railroad dispute as more workers walked off the job.

Mr. Truman told his top labor adviser, John R. Steelman, to get the union and railroad representatives into another conference.

And Steelman promptly called them to a White House meeting (at 9 a. m. Central Standard Time).

They will meet in separate rooms, but Steelman hopes there will be some common ground to bring them together.

Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross said Mr. Truman gave this instruction to Steelman: "Keep on trying."

So far the trying hasn't produced much results.

Railroaders struck today in Pittsburgh and Chicago despite a white house plea to stay on the job.

Like the ones called at the terminals earlier, these were described by the unions as five day "token" strike to back up wage and working hours demands.

The P. & L. E. said the strike would halt its passenger service between Pittsburgh and Youngstown, Ohio, as well as its freight service.

Steelman told reporters last night's futile peace talks broke up at 12:30 a. m. Washington time. Spokesmen for the unions and the railroads, meeting in adjoining rooms, could find "no common basis" on which to get together, he said.

He did not indicate whether he would try to get them together around a single conference table when the talks resume.

The unions have demanded repeatedly that the President use seizure powers bestowed by a 1916 law. They said they would keep their 300,000 railwayman members at work — and send the strikers back to their jobs — if the government takes over.

Mr. Truman acted swiftly last June, seizing the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railroad when the Switchmen's Union of North America struck.

The switchmen went back to work, and called off a strike on four other railroads at the government's request when the Korean war flared just as they were about to walk out.

Last night, however, the switchmen's union, broke off negotiations, saying they were getting nowhere.

Red Move Is Seen as a Face Saver

Hong Kong, Aug. 22 (AP)—Communist China's appeal to the United Nations for a "peaceful settlement in Korea was seen by some observers today as a Red attempt to save face and make the best of a worsening Korean situation.

Although the appeal by Chinese Premier and foreign minister Chou En-Lai echoed the settlement demands of Soviet Russia in the U. N., observers pointed out: Chou's message came when news reaching Hong Kong from Communist China described Red leaders as "losing heart" over the war developments in Korea.

This information is that Chinese Red newspapers have swung away from the enthusiasm that marked the earlier stages of the war when the Korean Communists were scoring rapid advances.

An informant cited an editorial in the Peiping people's daily, an official Chinese Communist mouthpiece which was voiced support of Russia's peace formula for Korea. The informant said:

"Though it didn't say so in so many words, the presumption is that it saw little or no hope of the Koreans pushing United Nations forces out of Korea and that steps must now be taken to salvage the situation before Korean Communist forces are driven back to where they came from."

The U. S. Geological Survey says electronically controlled aerial photography will speed the mapping of many inaccessible areas.

Reds Say 11,582 Civilians Killed by U. S. Bombs

Tokyo, Aug. 22 (AP)—The Red Korean radio in a puzzling broadcast said today Allied bombings had killed or wounded 11,582 civilians and destroyed 11 important industrial plants.

General MacArthur's headquarters said a 14,000-word report on the bombings is being broadcast in daily installments from North Korea.

If true, the accounts of destruction to industrial areas are vitally important to United Nations forces intelligence.

The broadcast said half of the casualties were killed. It said 18,504 houses had been damaged between July 2 and Aug. 3.

One theory advanced at headquarters for Red admission of this damage was that the North Koreans hoped the Allies would discontinue bombings. Another possible reason, officers said, was that "North Koreans may be trying to arouse sympathy among other Asiatic nations."

Local Group Returns From 4-H Club Meet

The Hempstead County Negro 4-H Club delegation returned from State 4-H Camp on Saturday afternoon. Twelve girls, eight boys, four local leaders, and the two agents attended this meeting, held at A. M. & N. College, Pine Bluff, Arkansas, August 16-18.

This was considered as one of the most enjoyable camps to be held at the college.

Joe Louis Peoples of Sheppard and Arthur Phillips of Washington gave a method demonstration of "Wrapping Cured Meats for Summers Storage."

Others taking part in the contests were: James H. Witherspoon of the Sheppard Club in "Tractor Driving Contest"; C. W. Jones of Powers Club, Joe L. Peoples and Tommie Burton of Sheppard Club in the Livestock judging "Contest"; Arthur Phillips, Washington, and Willie Brown of Mt. Pleasant in the "Horseshoe Pitching Tournament" for boys; Robert Fellows of Washington and Warren Scott of McNab completed the boys' delegation.

The county report was given by Nettie Campbell, members of the Powers Club and secretary of the 4-H County Council.

Mary Louise Booker of Washington, County Council president, and State Leadership winner, who was attending the Third Regional 4-H Camp held on the campus of Virginia State College, Petersburg, Virginia, joined the group and gave Regional Camp activities.

Mattie Ella Block of Mt. Pleasant Club represented the county in the Candle Lighting Ceremony; Argusta Woods of Powers and Ollie Mae Smith of McNab in the "Horseshoe Pitching Tournament" for girls; and Mary Frances Goston of Washington gave a demonstration on "How to prepare a Tray for the Sick."

Girls taking part in the Dress Revue were: Louise Green, Patmos, with a church dress; Forrest Eugene Walker of McNab, work dress; and Estelle Wingfield, Washington, school dress.

Maxine Evans of the New Hope Club represented the county in the "Talent Night Program," and James Witherspoon took part in the "Talkfest," while Freddie McCain of Fulton and Ollie Mae Smith of McNab served as yell leaders for the group.

Assisting these boys and girls at camp were the following local leaders: Gladys Williamson of Washington, Gertrude Nash of Sheppard, Clemestine Frierson of Patmos, and Elsie Brown of Mt. Pleasant, as well as the agents, B. Oren Cole and Walker Fleming, Jr.

Gertrude Nash, President of the County Leaders Council was elected president of the State Leaders' Council at this meeting.

House Prowler Gets $38.50 From Purse

A prowler got into the home of Mrs. Pauline Tyner sometime late Sunday night and took $38.50 from a purse, City Police said today.

Several prowler calls have been made within the past two weeks by policemen. A description has been given officers their first clue. An investigation continues.

Few Blocks on Spring Hill Road to Be Paved

Street Commissioner R. N. Mouser today announced that Spring Hill Road from 5th to 16th Street will be closed for a few days for paving.

To get to Fair Park motorists are asked to use Ferguson and Hamilton Streets.

WILL CHINESE REDS STRIKE?—The next few weeks will be critical ones for United Nations forces in Korea. If Chinese Communists do not strike and there is no Communist aggression where, U. S. leaders expect the Korean front to be stabilized by mid-August. Chinese Reds, who can muster 1,500,000 battle-seasoned troops, pose the sharpest problem. Map shows where and how they might intervene to complicate the Korean war. There has been a steady northward movement of troops (white arrow). Four Red armies are converging on the invaded coast north and south of Amoy. After Reds seized two Nationalist-held islands of Amoy, Nationalist government on Formosa ordered its navy and air force to go into action if Communists invaded the islands.

Johnson Expects War to Last Six Months; U. S. to Boost Army, Airforce and Fleet

Washington, Aug. 22 (UP)—Defense Secretary Louis Johnson expects the Korean war to last six to eight months, it was revealed today.

Johnson made the estimate July 25, a month after the war began. If he is right, the fighting would end sometime next winter. But he emphasized that heavy rearmament would continue for another two or three years.

The statement was in the published record of closed hearings by the house appropriations committee on President Truman's urgent request for $16,000,000,000 in extra domestic and overseas military spending to fight communism.

The record revealed for the first time in detail the mobilization rush precipitated by the Korean invasion. New revelations included the announcement that the navy has called up 53,000 reservists and will take in recruits at the rate of 15,500 a month.

Johnson, Secretary of State Dean Acheson and the military chiefs of staff, said the Korean war proved communism can be expected to use force whenever it thinks it can win.

"How speedily can we be prepared by this additional appropriation to cope with the world conditions that now confront us — six months or six years?" Rep. Robert L. F. Sikes, (D-Fla.), asked.

"I do not think that either figure is right," Johnson said. "I think this program is going to run across the next two or three years. The Korean situation, I hope, is a six or eight months' proposition."

Johnson said that one of the "unpardonables is that this may be but the beginning of larger things."

Washington, Aug. 22 (AP)—The impact of the Korean war and the rearmament program will give the nation 17 army divisions, a fleet which will include 23 carriers of various types in operation and an air force of 69 groups.

That outline of the augmented force emerged today in the release of testimony by defense officials on President Truman's request for a $16,000,000,000 supplemental appropriation, to be added to the regular funds for the current year.

The army will get this: Another combat division to bring the number of such units to 11, two additional replacement training divisions to be added to four now in operation.

The committee was given this picture of how the army was under strength at the start of the Korean war: There were 10 divisions, but with the exception of two, they were "considerably below" the organizational table for peacetime strength.

In the Far East command, each infantry regiment, except one, was short an infantry battalion — a total shortage of 11 battalions in the four divisions in Japan. There was a further shortage of 11 artillery batteries in four divisions. Throughout the army, including the Far East, the army was 40,000 under its budgeted strength of 680,000 (the ceiling since has been lifted). By next June 30, the army expects to have a strength of 634,000 men.

The expansion program now under way is designed to bring units in the Far East to full wartime manpower — a strength to bring units in the United States destined for the Far East to full strength, and to replace in the so-called general reserve units being shipped overseas. The program, of course, also includes provisions for replacement at the front.

Officials of the army medical department, on a purely actuarial basis, estimated that battle losses in Korea will be about five percent per month.

COURTESY CARD—The little town of Wytheville, Va. (pop. 5500), has set some kind of a precedent by erecting the billboard pictured above on its outskirts. This summer, Wytheville, county seat of Wythe County, suffered the worst polio epidemic in the history of the nation. Noted for its scenery, climate and vacation facilities, Wythe County was visited by thousands of tourists from all over the U. S. Wythevillians, while glad to have the visitors, did not want to take any chances on their contracting polio. Hence the sign, asking tourists to include the town in the vacation plans for next year. Health authorities state that, following this year's epidemic, Wytheville will be one of the most polio-free areas next year.

The scene is a typical one throughout the Wheat Belt as farmers harvest their unexpectedly good crops, yielding 30 to 35 bushels an acre.

DESIGNER DETAINED—Elsa Schiaparelli, world-famed Parisian fashion designer, was detained by police at Nice, France, as she was about to fly to Tunis in North Africa, where certain jewels, which she had reported stolen earlier, were discovered in her baggage. Undeclared American currency was also found hidden between the pages of a book among her belongings. "The whole thing was an oversight," she protested.

MAKING SPEED ON ROAD TO RECOVERY—These G.I.'s, wounded in the Korean fighting and flown home for hospitalization at the Great Lakes Naval Training Station, Ill., typify the speed with which casualties are cared for in this war. Maj.-Gen. Edgar Erskine Hurie, top Army surgeon in the Far East, declared that Korean war wounded are recovering so rapidly that they may beat World War II's record rate of six out of seven wounded patients in U. S. military hospitals being returned to duty. Patients pictured above are, left to right: Sgt. 1/c Jerry Long, Aurora, Ill.; Sgt. 1/c Davey Taylor, Cincinnati, Ohio; Pfc. FLYING FAMILY—James Hay, second from left, walks proudly along the flight line at Naval Air Station, Hanks, by his three sons, James, Jr., left, Larry, and William, right. All three are in the Naval Air Reserve and veterans of World War II, the family reported for two weeks of flying training. Hay, Sr., and son Larry have since been recalled to full-time active service.

ANIMAL FARE—Judy, a 14-month-old elephant from Siam, steps casually into the cab of Lester Kreitzman for a ride to the zoo after arriving by boat in San Francisco. It was the first time Kreitzman ever carried an elephant in his cab, and he was pleased to see that Judy took care of her own trunk.

THIS MAN'S HOME IS HIS CASTLE—In Fox River Grove, Ill., Ted Bettendorf, 61-year-old bachelor and machinist, spent 10 years building his home in this unique style. The "castle" is modeled after a castle in Vianden, Luxembourg, where Bettendorf was born. Each block in the walls was hand-molded of cement and selected vari-colored stones.

Miss LaVeta Byers and Bill Greeson Wed in Church Ceremony

Miss LaVeta Byers became the bride of Billy Joe Greeson, at four o'clock Sunday afternoon, August 20 in a beautiful double ring ceremony at the Rocky Mound Baptist church.

Miss Byers is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orie Byers of Hope, and Mr. Greeson is the son of Mrs. Lois Greeson of Arkadelphia, and Willis Greeson of Little Rock. The Elder Carlton Roberts, officiated before a background of English ivy, and floor baskets of pink gladioli. A central arrangement of pink radiant roses completed the nuptial scene.

Following the ceremony, Miss Marian Taylor of this city, played a program of nuptial music. She was attired in a hunter green crepe dress with black accessories and a corsage of red rosebuds.

Miss Taylor also accompanied Bobby Messer who sang "Be-cause", and "I Love You Truly". During the exchange of vows, she played "O Promise Me softly on the piano. The traditional wedding marches were used.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an ice blue linen dress with navy blue accessories. She carried a white Bible topped with a white orchid showered with tube roses tied in love knots in white satin ribbon. The Bible belonged to her paternal grandmother.

Miss Bobbie Taylor was the bridesmaid of honor. She was attired in a cocoa crepe dress with coffee brown accessories. Her flowers were a colonial bouquet of Tailsman gladioli.

Dorsey Byers, brother of the bride, was the bridegroom's best man.

Mrs. Byers chose for her daughter's wedding, a crepe dress of midnight blue with black accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

Mrs. Greeson, mother of the bridegroom, wore a brown faille dress with brown accessories and a corsage of pink columbia rosebuds.

For their wedding trip through the Ozarks, the bride chose an

THE STORY: "Doc" Fortson, village pharmacist, might call a dog, but it's because he likes people. He especially likes Betsy Sharpe, his cashmer, but Betsy is deeply in love with Roger Blensen, the postman. Roger became a postman only recently and Doc has just observed, during an incident at his drug store, that Roger is afraid of dogs.

like he'd heard all this before. "How did Roger look when he left the store?" he asked. "Make with the four eyes, Doc." Everybody in town calls me Doc Four Eyes. Most druggists get the Doc part hung on them and the rest of it was on account of my glasses. Or maybe because I'm snappy. Anyway, with four eyes snappy. "Stiff back," I said, "hands balled into fists... a kind of stumbling trot... Yeah, he kept looking back over his shoulder, too."

"A perfect picture of fear," Tom said thoughtfully. "But what is he afraid of? I wonder if that head injury..."

ON her way to wash off the signs of her tears, Betsy heard this remark. She came back of the screen furiously. "You can just quit wondering about it! Roger is going to be all right! The doctors said so. Just because Aunt Myra thinks they should have kept him longer at the hospital..."

She stopped and glared at Tom. "Roger's going to be all right," she said, her voice daring us to think anything different.

Tom's eyebrows went up. "Your Aunt Myra thinks Roger isn't quite..."

Betsy nodded miserably, forgetting that Tom couldn't see her. It was hard to remember that Tom Carson was blind—hard for everybody in town. Tom had been halfway through medical school when he lost his sight and came home. But he didn't ask for any sympathy about it. With Greta to help him get around, he was establishing an insurance business.

Tom asked another question then. "Did the doctors at the hospital suggest outdoor work for Roger? Is that why he took this postoffice job?"

Betsy's blue eyes grew rounder. "How did you guess? It took me days to get that out of Roger. He won't talk about his injury at all." Tom smiled a little. "It seems fairly obvious that handling high school kids as active as a popper full of corn would hardly be the job for Roger for a while at least."

"Roger thinks he never will be able to teach again," Betsy said despairingly. "And he won't even talk about when we can get married. I tell him I can keep my job here if he feels like a mailman's salary won't be enough, but he won't make any plans. And dogs! Tom, he's simply going to pieces over dogs!"

"You mean Roger Blensen is actually afraid of dogs?" Tom questioned in surprise. "Why?"

"I NEVER noticed about the dogs before Roger was hurt," Betsy said. "I remember that he didn't much like Prince, Grandfather's old retriever, but neither did I nor Aunt Myra. Prince was so old and cross with everybody except Grandfather it was hard to like him. And then Roger just isn't the kind of person who goes around chucking dogs under the chin. There are plenty of people like that." Betsy wound up defensively. "Normal people, too!"

"Sure," Tom agreed. "Liking dogs has nothing to do with being normal. And the fact that dogs don't like you doesn't make you a villain either. I knew a regular old saint of a minister that any dog handy would take a bite out of. But dogs can certainly make things lively for a postman that doesn't like them. Tempest in a teapot stuff, maybe—no, more like a maelstrom in a mailbag, I guess."

"It is not like a tempest in a teapot," Betsy snapped at him. "And it isn't funny either!" Then the anger died out of her voice. "I suppose it does look funny. Dogs yapping and tearing Roger's pants and chasing him over fences and up trees. He's been bitten three times already. And he's simply going to pieces. You saw how he acted this morning. He's nervous and irritable and he dreads any noise or confusion."

"Ataxaphobia," Tom diagnosed. "I knew that $5 word. It means fear of noise and uproar. I'd seen it in that rental book."

to Pusan port Tuesday and wiped out a Communist roadblock infiltration under artillery fire 40 miles from Taegu.

These were the day's fiercest blazing actions on the 120 mile Korean beachhead battlefield.

Allied fighting men and tanks held firm or counter-attacked all along the line against the combined weight of nine enemy divisions 80,000 men — stacked up with armor to drive on Taegu and Pusan.

The fighting on the south coastal approaches to Pusan, No. 1 Allied seaport on the southeast tip of the peninsula, roared for the third successive day.

Three times the men of the U. S. 25th division inantry beat back the attacking Reds on that bloodstained road.

First, the U. S. 35th regiment drove a numerically superior North Korean force off a key ridge near Chungam, 35 miles west of Pusan.

Then Negro troops of the 24th regiment recaptured nearby "Battle mountain" for the fifth time in four days. And the 5th regimental combat team from Hawaii fought its way back to commanding heights of the Souk hills near Tundok, just south of Chungam.

AP Correspondent Stan Swinton reported from the southern front that the 25th division regained all the ground lost previously to attacking troops of the Red Korean sixth division.

Swinton's dispatch was timed after the U. S. 8th army communique released at 8:10 p. m. Tuesday (5:10 a. m. EST), which said the 5th regiment was attacking a hill lost to the Reds Monday.

In the north above Taegu, 45-ton perishing tanks drove back a Red assault led by nine tanks in the fourth day of continual thrusts at the central front Allied supply base.

AP Correspondent Don Whitehead, before Taegu, said American tankmen knocked out two Russian made T-34 tanks and a U. S. artillery polished off two more in a two-hour battle that kicked back a Red battalion.

Then the Americans whirled to knock out the Communist roadblock 10 miles north of Taegu and

UN to Meet, Nothing New Expected

Lake Sub. has, Aug. 22 (AP)—The security council meets again today (2 p. m. EST) for what appears certain to be its ninth no-progress session of Russian Jakob A. Malik's tenure as President.

Despite his own failure earlier in the month to oust the Chinese Nationalists and seat Communist China, Malik was expected to present similar demand made this week by Red China's foreign minister Chou En-Lai. Chou, like Russia, also seeks participation of North Korean representatives in the council debates on the Korean war.

Other council members were certain to greet Chou's demand as coldly as they earlier rejected Malik's.

Nor was there any progress in the procedural deadlock which has stalled decisive council action.

The council met informally in closed session yesterday. Malik whose one month tenure as the group's president expires Aug. 31, proposed again that the North Koreans be invited to the public meetings. Other council members—who want only South Korea represented—refused again. The meeting broke up without agreement.

"It was the same old stuff on the same old question," one delegate said.

Malik had two other communications, from Czechoslovakia's foreign minister Vilam Siroky. Siroky called on the council to adopt Malik's "peace plan" for an immediate ceasefire in Korea and withdrawal of foreign troops.

Like an earlier cable from Poland, the Czech message also demanded that the council condemn U. S. air force bombings in the war zone.

The first time the U. S. Open golf championship was played over the 72 hole route was in 1898, when Fred Herd won with a score of 328.

Mrs. Hilton Shuff, Route 1 Box 42, Ville Platte, Louisiana, has a son, a daughter, a husband, a small garden and her housework to keep her busy from morning until night. She says she isn't a bit tired after such a day now that she is taking HADACOL to give her system those precious vitamins B1, B2, Niacin, and Iron. Before taking HADACOL her system suffered a deficiency of these.

Here is Mrs. Shuff's statement: "I have been sick and weak for some time. When you are a housewife on the farm you have lots of work to do—not hard work but work that is tiring, especially when you are sick. At night I couldn't rest—and food, no matter what I ate, didn't agree with me. Then my sister told me about HADACOL—she said HADACOL would really make me feel better. I took her advice and began taking HADACOL. I felt better after the third bottle. So far I have taken 15 bottles of HADACOL. I eat anything I want to, I sleep well every night and my housework doesn't tire me at all. Anything I say about HADACOL would be an understatement. I think HADACOL is wonderful."

You, Too, Can Be Helped as have thousands of other fine folks if you, too, suffer a deficiency of Vitamin B1, B2, Niacin, and Iron, which HADACOL contains. HADACOL helps build up the hemoglobin content of your blood when Iron is needed) to carry these precious vitamins and minerals to every organ, and every part of your body—to the heart, liver, kidneys and lungs, even to the eyes, hair and nails.

Give HADACOL a chance today! Refuse substitutes. Don't let anyone tell you something else is "just as good." Insist on the genuine HADACOL. No risk is involved... because HADACOL is sold only on a strict money-back guarantee. You'll feel great with the first few bottles you take or your money will be refunded. Trial size, only $1.25; Large Family or Hospital size, $3.50. (c) 1950, The LeBlanc Corporation—Adv.

Will Arkansas clear the way to telephone service second to none?

HERE'S WHAT THE GREATER ARKANSAS TELEPHONE PROGRAM WOULD DO

Improve and expand service in all 77 exchanges the company operates, and build more long distance lines between them.

Bring dial service to all 22 exchanges where customers still turn the crank to get the operator—plus nine other exchanges where particular need exists.

Speed the coming of dial service for all the remaining manual exchanges.

Bring service to 8,000 families now waiting and 3,600 more who apply every month.

Meet fully the present demand for service from rural areas, adding thousands more rural telephones to tie town and country closer together.

Meet the needs of 15,000 party-line customers now waiting for individual or two-party lines.

Restore the company's "readiness to serve" so you can get the service you want... when and where you want it... without unreasonable delay.

The people of Arkansas would have much to gain from the $38 million which the telephone company proposes to spend by the end of 1953 in the Greater Arkansas Telephone Program.

To people throughout the state, it would bring more and better telephone service. And it would also mean more jobs, more money in circulation, more business for local merchants.

Just one obstacle stands in the path of that program—the company's present, depression-level earnings which are completely inadequate to attract the necessary millions of dollars in new investment money.

Postwar growth has not brought prosperity. Instead, earnings on telephone investment in Arkansas have sunk to less than 2¢ on the dollar—below the lowest point in the depression. And they are still going down. The reason, simply stated, is that we are faced with an added plant cost of $412 for each new telephone compared with an average investment of $227 per telephone before the war.

Only the prospect of reasonable earnings can justify investing the added millions required for the Greater Arkansas Telephone Program. And only higher rates can make such a prospect possible.
